Orland Park, IL

The Chicago Fury is pleased to announce that Brad and Joe Saban have joined the Chicago Fury Midget Major Coaching staff for the 2008-2009 Tier I AAA Hockey Season and will serve as Assistant Coaches to Fury Head Coach Nick Pollos. Chicago Fury Hockey Director Marc Kapsalis made the announcement.

"I'm very excited to be working with Brad and Joe," says Fury Head Coach Nick Pollos. "They bring a wealth of knowledge, energy and big game experience as coaches to our club." The addition to the Major Midget program clearly gives the Fury the most experienced coaching staff in all of Illinois at the Major Midget level. In addition to the 14 plus years of experience Fury Head Coach Nick Pollos brings at the Midget and Junior A levels, the Saban brothers now add another 29 years of experience to the staff. Combined, the Fury Midget Major Coaching Staff has won over 25 Illinois State, USA Regional and or USA Hockey National Championships and have assisted over 175 players in advancing to the next level. This success is unprecedented in Illinois. "I'm excited to be back working with Nick," said Brad Saban. "We have known each other for ten years and worked together at the Flames when Nick won a National Championship." Brad went on to say, "It's great to have the facility that we do at the Fury so we can provide our players what they need to help them reach their goals. I look forward to being part of the organization with such great people."

In addition to having the most successful on ice staff, the Fury now offers its players an unmatched resource in player advancement. With over 45 years of combined coaching experience comes a proven path of player development and placement to the next level. "Our club is about development and advancement for our players", noted Fury Hockey Director Marc Kapsalis. Kapsalis added, "Brad and Joe add a great deal to an already solid foundation. Please help us in welcoming Brad and Joe to the Chicago Fury."
